Ski Andorra: Grandvalira, and Vallnord Areas.

The Grandvalira Area is the largest ski region in the Pyrenees, with 193 km of slopes. Vallnord features 3 distinct sections: Arcalis, Arinsal, and Pal. The 5 day Andorra ski pass, for about $250 (U.S.), will allow you to ski the whole country!! Your ski pass will also give you a free admission to one of the country's numerous museums. Ski buses connect the whole thing.

Ski Andorra... The principality of Andorra is set high in the Pyrenees nestled between the French and Spanish borders. Andorra is tax free and an ideal place to take a winter sports holiday as it combines excellent resort quality, an enviable snow record and long sunny days with great value for money. The ski resorts have their own character and personality and are all blessed with well-groomed pistes. Andorra's ski areas are perfectly suited for beginners and intermediates with their wide open pistes and long tree lined runs, both of which are great ego boosters! There are also black runs and mogul fields for the advanced skiers. Andorra welcomes snowboarders, too. There are also some excellent parks in the resorts which include half pipes, jumps and rails.

Barcelona.....A feast for the senses, Catalonia's capital has a distinctly Mediterranean feel. Its revitalization for the 1992 Olympics made Barcelona the place to be on the continent. A picturesque location, Europe's best-preserved Gothic Quarter, Gaudi's delightfully cheeky architecture and galleries with the treasures of Miró, Tàpies and Picasso make Barcelona visually stunning indoors and out. "New Catalan Cuisine" and tapas bars tempt the taste buds, and the nightlife and music are on the cutting edge. Our hotel for 3 nights is the Hotel Atrium Palace. Beyond the comfort and excellences of the Atrium Palace and its restaurant, the greatest luxury for its guests is the closeness to everything! Flanked by the Rambla and Paseo de Gracia avenues, a universe of possibilities opens out: Casa Batlló, Pedrera, Liceo, Plaza Catalunya, Palau de la Musica, Tapies Foundation, the Gothic District, hundreds of shops and stores, the university campus and gardens, art galleries and the medieval Consejo de Ciento, plus a non-ending number of secrets which we leave to you to discover, at your own pace and inclinations.
